

PROMO EMAILS

SEEDS FOR LIFE PROMO EMAIL #1

subject: This is more important than the election

We're in an election year, and that means politics will be on our minds all the way 'til November.

Once again people are saying that this is going to be the most important election of their lifetime. And this time I'm inclined to think they're right.

The outcome of this election will either lead us deeper into socialism, or, hopefully, be a step toward turning things around, back to a freer society.

But let me tell you something. . .

No matter how important this election may be, there's something going that's even more important. And it has to do with our food supply.

Most people don't realize it, but we have some serious problems with our food supply. Big problems that nobody is talking about, that could easily threaten your access to food, and even lead to mass starvation.

And it's a problem we're gonna continue to face no matter who get's elected. . .

That's why I've put together this short video for you about our looming food crisis.

(link)

In this presentation you'll learn the major threats to our food supply – and how it may affect you and your family.

But not only that, I'll introduce you to a way that you can get prepared so you can feed your family – and even have enough to help your neighbors. . . no matter how bad the food crisis becomes.

The method I'll introduce is not hard or expensive.. In fact, people have been doing it for hundreds of years,

Check out the video now, and learn about this simple, time-tested way you can be prepared in the face of the food crisis that threatens all of us.

(link)

Think about it. . . isn't being more self-sufficient when it comes to providing food for your family more important than the next election?

For you survival,

Wallace Streete

SEEDS FOR LIFE PROMO EMAIL #2

subject: Some secrets you must know to protect yourself

Back when I was in school, it never bothered me much when classmates passed secrets around. I figured if it were something important, I'd eventually hear about it.

I still feel pretty much the same way. There's not much sense in worrying about petty information that some people may want to keep from you.

But there's an exception. . . Not all information that's kept a secret is petty. Sometimes it's critical. . . and it could even cost you your life. . . because by the time you learn about it, it could be too late.

That's the way I feel about the information that's being kept from you about our looming food crisis.

Did you know that there are serious food supply issues that could keep you from acquiring food from your family?

Worldwide, food supplies are dwindling. And though our own country still produces a lot of food, growing debt levels combined with the shrinking value of the dollar make even our domestic food supplies vulnerable. . . especially should some unforeseen crisis arise.

It's because of this that you need to be prepared to get better control of your own food supply.

And, another secret you need to know, is that it's not all that hard or expensive to get ready. In fact, there's a way for you to get real food security by obtaining all of the seeds your family would ever need – for free.

To provide you information about our coming food crisis, and tell you how can best prepare for it, I've put together a short video.

(link)

Go ahead and watch the video now. In it you'll find out more about our coming food crisis AND how you can prepare to feed your family in the event that food shortages hit our own population.

There are some secrets you really need to uncover.

And I uncover them for you in this video.

(link)

For your survival,

Wallace Streete

SEEDS FOR LIFE PROMO EMAIL #3

subject: 3 Important Criteria for Survival Seeds

The importance of seeds goes all the way back to the first chapter of the Bible. . . because it's from seeds that we ultimately get our food.

Most of the time we take this for granted, because we're so accustomed to getting the bulk of our food directly from the grocery store.

But recently – because of our shrinking food supply – there's growing interest on the part of more and more people to have their own seeds on hand.

And this makes sense, because having a good supply of quality seeds available is the best way to be sure you'll have what you need to eat in a drawn out food crisis.

Because of the increased demand for this basic survival item, you've probably seen ads for seeds you can buy in a tube or bucket. You may even have one or two of these yourself.

Something you may not know, though, is that getting seeds in this way does not meet three basic and important criteria for survival seeds.

The first of these criteria has to do with cost. There's a way you can get all the quality seeds you need for FREE – but these offers for seeds in a tube are expensive.

The second and third criteria have to do with the quantity of seeds you want to have, and the assurance they will grow in your area.

To explain all of this to you in greater detail, I've put together a short video.

(link)

In this video you'll learn what you need to know about dangerous food shortages that threaten us all. Plus, you'll know how to get yourself prepared for any shortage, easily and inexpensively.

The prospect of empty grocery shelves is not something we hear much about. . . but it's something that those in the know are aware of and concerned about in a big way.

You can learn more about this threat yourself – and how you can prepare for it – by watching the video.

(link)

For your survival,

Wallace Steele